

Stormwater Coalition of Monroe County

Construction Site Stormwater Management Workshop for municipal inspection and engineering staff and consulting engineers

Background:

Under the Federal Phase II Stormwater regulations, municipalities are required to adopt an ordinance designed to reduce pollutants in stormwater runoff from construction activities. The Stormwater Coalition of Monroe County has developed a model construction ordinance that member municipalities can use to comply with the regulations. This workshop will provide an overview of the model ordinance, highlighting those issues that municipalities should consider as they move through the adoption process. The workshop will also include presentations by the Monroe County Soil & Water Conservation District on construction site stormwater management practices, compliance issues, inspections, and stormwater plan reviews.

Date/Location:

- Thursday, November 10, 2005 from 8:30 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. at the Chili Town Hall. This workshop is designed for municipal inspection and engineering staff as well as consulting engineers.

Registration Information:
